From the Editor . . .

When I volunteered to be editor of the Pylon, I felt it would be difficult to produce a yearbook with limited resources and waning interest. I would not have volunteered if I had realized how very difficult it actually turned out to be.

I will be the first to say that this is not as good a yearbook as I had hoped, and I apologize in advance for its many deficencies. I have learned much about my own deficencies in struggling with this task.

Deficencies aside, a yearbook's primary purpose is to preserve a class memory in pictures. If you look through these pages and smile and remember, then the Pylon's purpose has been fulfilled.

As for particulars, this yearbook is very different from its predecessors. Limited manpower & finances necessitated cutting out all but the bare essentials and eliminating underclassmen sections (less than 10 underclassmen purchased a yearbook). I have tried to emphasize candids, including as many different people in as many different situations as possible. Joe Previte had completed the senior section of the defunct 1989 Pylon, but did not have enough finances to comple a yearbook. Therefore, the 1989 senior section & the remaining money from the 1989 Pylon's account was incorporated into the present yearbook.

Thanks to . . .

My wife Gail for not divorcing me while our apartment was cluttered for over a year with yearbook junk.

Rob Gerbo, my co-editor, for lots of manpower & encouragement. The yearbook could never have been completed without him.

Joe Previte for his layout of the 1989 section & his money.

All the sponsors, honor patrons, & purchasers. Everyone who helped & submitted photos—they are the yearbook.

. . . and most of all, my deepest gratitude to God for giving me the strength to complete this book when I wanted to give up.

The Pylons

Top: Hippocrates (460-370 B.C.), "Father of Medicine." Hippocratic medicine's chief concerns were the patient and diagnosis and treatment based on observed facts.

Bottom: Aristotle (384-322 B.C.), Comparative anatomist and embryologist.

Top: The Apothecary. "And thou shalt make . . . an ointment compound after the art of the apothecary." Exodus 30:25

Bottom: The Old Testament legislated social hygiene for the good of the individual and the community.

Top: William Harvey (1578-1657), discoverer of the circulation of the blood, studying the flow of blood in the veins.

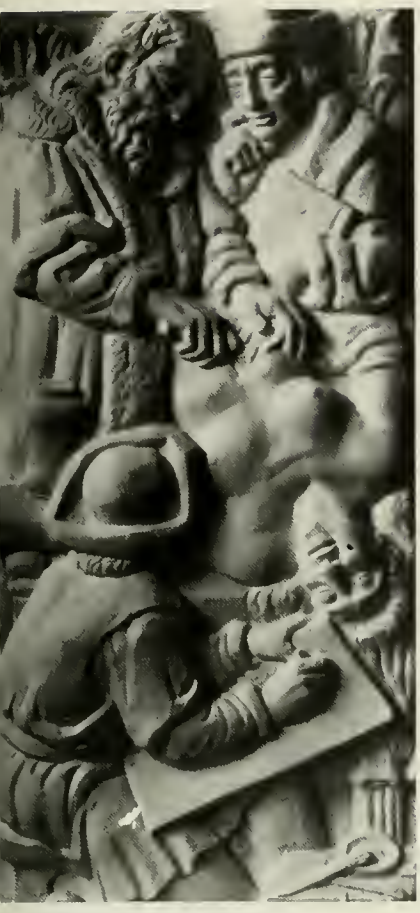
Bottom: The Reverend Stephan Hales (1677-1761) making the first measurement of blood pressure, using the direct method on a horse.

Top: Benvenutus Grassus (circa 12th Century) made studies on the structure of the eye. His writings were the acknowledged text on ophthalmology for 500 years.

Bottom: A Deaconess in a medieval hospital carrying out "Christianity's essential aim . . . the assistance of the sick . . . a work of human and divine pity." Castiglioni

Top: Ephraim McDowell (1771-1830) treating tumor of the ovary by the first removal of this organ.

Bottom: Ignaz Semmelweis (1818-1865) instituted methods of preventin childbed fever, thus saving the lives o thousands of mothers.



issection and anatomical illustration the renaissance when anatomy came a science through dissections the human corpse by Andreas esalius (1514-1564).

Top: The American William Beaumont (1785-1853) advanced physiology by his study of the digestive processes in the living stomach of Alexis St. Martin after a healed shotgun wound left a permanent opening.

Bottom: Wilhelm Roentgen (1845-1923) discovered the X-ray in 1895. The panel shows the fluoroscope which uses X-ray in the examination of the interior of the living body.

Top: The development of dentistry as a modern science began with the writings and practice of Pierre Fauchard (1678-1761), who is depicted examining a patient.

Bottom: Louis Pasteur (1822-1895) inoculating a dog with rabies virus via a hole bored through the skull—part of an experiment to develop a rabies vaccine.
